

Since 2001, Peter's Place has been providing safe and supportive environments for grieving children and families. At our Radnor center, we offer peer support groups for children ages 4-17 and their caregivers, and for young adults ages 18-25. In addition to these programs, Peter's Place brings grief support groups to children in schools throughout the Philadelphia region. Nearly 600 children, caregivers, and young adults were served through peer support programs last year alone.

In addition to direct support, Peter's Place acts as a community resource to foster understanding of the effects of death and grief. We provide education and resources to professionals, caregivers, and the public, indirectly serving an additional 16,000 children annually. Peter's Place is also actively engaged in research with partners such as the Children's Hospital of Philadelphia (CHOP) and the City of Chester, to better understand the needs of grieving children and the community.

Peter's Place does not charge for any peer support services, ensuring that our programs are accessible to everyone regardless of income. We rely on the generosity of donors and on our dedicated group of volunteers.

Each and every gift helps Peter's Place bring comfort, hope, and healing to grieving children and families!
